You can sort by column. Hovering over the column's header name, you will see a up/down arrow appear. Clicking the arrow toggles the column in ascending or descending order.

lengthy), or you can shorten the information by searching for certain information. After you perform your search and obtain the information you are desiring, then you can click the print button to only print that information. This information is converted to a pdf document. So, you will need the free Adobe Reader, or another pdf compatible software to view the document after it is created. It is important that you set the page orientation to landscape before converting into a pdf, or you'll lose some of the information.
